Do 5, 12, 20-yr. terms set pattern?

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Is a pattern developing which could foreshadow long imprisonment of Thomas R. Brimberry? Court observers regard this as a possibility if not a probability.

Six persons have been convicted or have pleaded guilty in the Stix & Co. stock brokerage looting. Five-year sentences have been ordered for Arthur Miller Jr. and Leonard Bednar, Jerry Maestas is awaiting sentencing June 17; he could receive 15 years but a lesser number of years is expected.

On Friday in St. Louis, Duane Skinner, 34, former Pontoon Beach area accountant, received a 12-year term and James Massa, 51, a Collinsville attorney, was sentenced to 20 years.

Massa also was fined $53,000 and Skinner was fined $20,000. Both remain free on bond pending appeals.

Brimberry, in custody on bonds totaling $200,000, has described himself as the key figure in the Stix case. He was convicted last week in Alton of obstructing justice and faces up to ten years in prison and a $20,000 fine June 24.

He also is to stand trial in St. Louis, tentatively in late June, on perjury charges related to the investigation of the scheme. And federal prosecutors say they will seek charges against him

Mrs. Brimberry sued

Mrs. Janice Brimberry, 36, wife of the key figure in the Stix & Co. stock brokerage collapse, is the target of two court actions.

1. The trustee filed a $23,477,940 suit against her Friday, alleging she is ignoring the U.S. Bankruptcy Code by failing to turn over stolen assets of the firm.

2. Immune from prosecution on any criminal counts, she was named in a civil action Thursday in the Madison County Circuit Court, also related to the search for assets. She has until June 20 to show cause why she should not be cited for contempt of court; $1.3 million is owed to Daniel Partney, winner of a libel judgment.

The move by the Stix case trustee,

Harry O. Moline, notes her testimony in the James Massa and Duane Skinner trial that she participated in a looting conspiracy that bankrupted the firm in November 1981.

And the action by Leon Scroggins, Partney's attorney, points out that she did testify and thus cannot claim Fifth Amendment rights not to answer now.

Moline says she should be held liable for the full $23 million. She says a lesser amount was involved and that all has been spent.

The suit potentially could alter her current life style. She resides in a $480,000 home in Paradise Valley, Ariz., and stayed at the Airport Mar-

Charge 3 with kidnap-robbery

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

Three men who abducted Dr. and Mrs. Hector Zevallos from their home—and held them for eight days in August 1982 in the Springfield area—were indicted Thursday by a Madison County grand jury on kidnapping and robbery charges.

They could not be charged by the federal government with kidnapping, since no state boundaries were crossed, but they were convicted of interfering with interstate commerce, a charge related to the abduction.

Don Benny Anderson, 42, of Pearland, Texas, and two brothers, Matthew M. Moore, 20, and Wayne A. Moore, 18, both of New Caney, Texas, are in federal custody.

State's Attorney Don W. Weber had considered seeking state kidnapping charges, and tentatively decided to do so only if the Zevalloses wanted him to.

They are not eager to testify at a second round of trials but are willing to do so now because of fear that the younger men may be paroled within a few years and possibly take further action against the Zevalloses.

Girl, 11, saves 4 in fire

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

An 11-year-old girl saved the lives of four children during a fire that destroyed her family's home Friday.

Brenda Kay Sanders has always been special to her family, but now she's their heroine.

At 1:30 p.m., the Granite City fire department received a call that the Sanders home at 2825 Circle Drive was on fire.

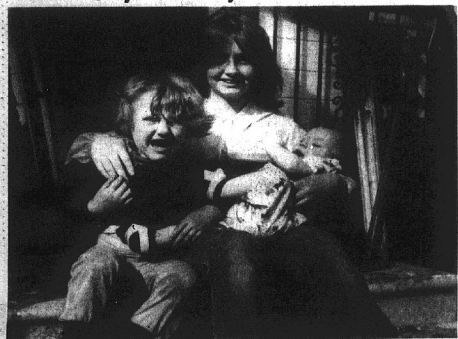

Brenda had been babysitting inside the home while her parents, Norman and Agnes Sanders, and other relatives were overseeing a rummage sale outside.

When the fire broke out in the area of a furnace located in a bedroom closet, Brenda ran to get her father. Sanders said he first thought the fire was small, a typical kitchen fire.

He and his sister, Sarah, and an unidentified youth tried to fight the blaze until they were partly overcome by smoke and had to call firefighters. In the meantime, young Brenda took the children out of the home to the safety of her Aunt Sarah's car. The aunt is a widow.

She rescued the aunt's son, Darrell O'Brien Sanders, 8 months old, and her own brothers, Johnny, 2½, Teddy, 6,

70 evictions ordered at Kirkpatrick to enforce no-pet rule

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

About 70 Kirkpatrick Homes families received 30-day eviction notices last week for allegedly violating a no-pets lease provision, after residents and a federal official complained about the dog population there.

David Morgan, executive director of the Granite City Housing Authority, which oversees the more than 430 apartments on Nameoki Road, said it was the first time he has taken such a massive approach to the animal problem.

"I've sent it (eviction notice) to individual people for other reasons," Morgan said Friday, "but not on a wholesale deal like this. It (the number of dogs) was just getting out of hand."

Some national studies indicate two potential negative aspects:

GC jobless decrease 2%

Granite City area unemployment has dropped nearly two percent—from 18.2 percent in March to 16.3 percent in April, new statistics show.

An Illinois Job Service spokesman estimates the current labor force at 18,325, of whom 16,175 are working and 3,150 are unemployed. Of the previous month's 19,875 workers, 16,250 were employed and 3,625 were jobless.

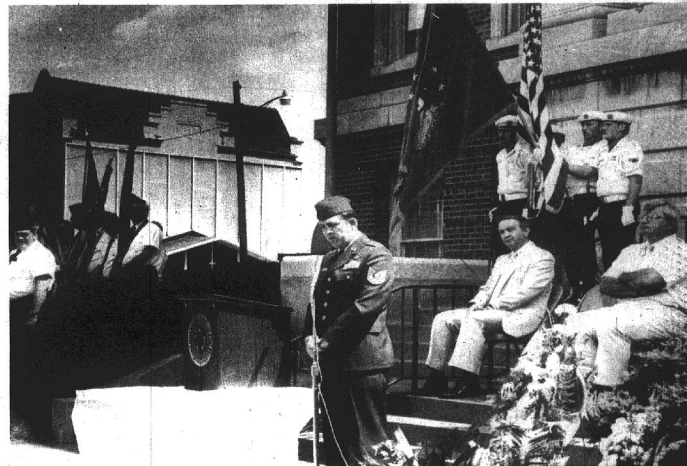

—A widely-publicized analysis this year concluded that the responsibility of pet ownership makes many persons feel more useful, particularly older people, resulting in the people remaining more active and living longer.

—Pets taken to humane shelters or dog pounds face a highly uncertain future. Depending to an extent on how crowded the shelter may be, many animals are killed if not chosen quickly by prospective new owners.

All Kirkpatrick Homes residents were sent a letter May 6 giving them two weeks to remove pets, but the (Continued on Page 3)

Natural gas price cut

Illinois Power Company customers will benefit from a reduction in costs from the utility's natural gas pipeline suppliers.

The reduction will be reflected in lower purchased gas adjustment (PGA) for customers beginning tomorrow, June 1.

The lower charges from pipeline suppliers would amount to $26.5 million a year, based on the volume of natural gas used by Illinois Power customers in 1982.

PGA—expected to be 12.33 cents per therm starting June 1—will instead be only 8.21 cents per therm.

The reduction is equal to five percent savings on an annual basis for the utility's typical customer who uses natural gas to heat a home.

The lower charges from Illinois Power Co. suppliers reflect the pipeline companies' reduced costs for buying gas, including Canadian natural gas and Algerian liquefied natural gas.

"PGA is designed to lower customers' bills when costs are less, just as it adjusts bills upward when charges are higher," said Miro P. Mladiner, IP manager of rates, in Decatur.

"Illinois Power appreciates having a mechanism to allow such savings to be passed quickly and automatically to customers."

SERVICE TO EDUCATION. President Earl Lazerson (left) of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville presents the Slavic and East European Friends award for outstanding service to education to Dr. Vasil Vasiloff of Granite City. An emeritus professor of the SIU School of Dental Medicine, Dr. Vasiloff has devoted his professional life to education, having taught in area secondary schools and as a member of the faculty of the St. Louis University dental school as well as at SIU.

Offer gardens to unemployed

The Metropolitan Re-employment Development Program dedicated a one-acre lot for vegetable gardens for the unemployed last week in Pontoon Beach.

Brenda Derby, director of the program, said 20 lots, each 20 by 50 feet, will be available to area residents who are unemployed or underemployed. The 20 plots are available on a first come, first serve basis. According to Miss Derby, there are still 15 plots left for those people wanting to plant food.

Staples such as corn and beans are available in the vegetable packet. The preparation, planting and weeding of the plots are up to the individuals who sign for the plots.

Food grown at the site must be eaten by that person's family or sold to the Food Crisis Network through the program.

Presently, there is a similar garden at Alton near the Olin plant. The Pontoon Beach garden is located on Illinois Route 111 north of the Pontoon Beach Village Hall. The land was donated by Jerry Harrington of Comfort Heating Co.

Granite City area banks are paying for the seeds for the gardens, and area labor unions will help with the maintenance of the garden area.

Persons interested in joining the program may call Miss Derby at 876-2383.

BREAK STORE WINDOW

Two teenage boys threw a water meter cover to break a window at 2:30 a.m. Saturday at the 905 Liquor Store in the Nameoki Village Shopping Center and then ran to the rear of the Kroger store before disappearing from view. The meter cover broke numerous bottles of wine and it is believed two three-liter wine bottles were stolen.

Music Under Stars rehearsal Thursday

The Granite City Park District Music Under the Stars summer choruses will begin rehearsals Thursday, June 2, conducted by Mrs. Mary Ann Bright, choral director at Granite City High School South for the past 10 years, and Mrs. Jane Kozielek, music teacher at St. Elizabeth School.

Once again the program will consist of two groups.

The Children's Chorus, including any elementary grade students through the eighth grade, will rehearse every Monday and Thursday from 1 to 2 p.m. in the South High vocal room.

Adults of all ages and high school students will sing with the Adult Chorus and rehearse every Monday and Thursday from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m., also in the South vocal room.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of either chorus is invited to attend the initial practice session. There is no registration fee or audition and a person does not have to have any formal training as a singer in order to join.

Performances will include four concerts during the June and July season, at 8 o'clock Tuesday nights at Wilson Park. Perfect attendance is not a requirement but each is encouraged to participate for the entire summer season, the directors added.

There are four rehearsals planned before the first concert, which is scheduled for Thursday, June 14.

Arson, burglary on Benton Street

Arson and burglary are suspected in a fire at 1924 Benton St. discovered by a passerby at 4 a.m. Sunday. The home is owned by Robert Applegate, who was on a weekend fishing trip. He rents an upstairs room to Jeff LaPere, who also was gone for the weekend.

A mattress in the upstairs area apparently was set afire. There was much smoke damage, but later the fire went out.

The intruder ransacked furniture in the room and scattered items about.

Challenge industrial park's rail facilities

By DONNA KIMBRO of the Press-Record

A dispute over railroad service to the Stephen Maeras Industrial Park in Madison was aired at last week's City Council meeting.

A letter from Southwest Steel Supply Co., located in the Maeras Industrial Park, asserted that rail service which the Economic Development Administration and the City of Madison brought in to serve the park has been defective. Councilmen decided to refer the document to City Attorney Casper Nighohossian for study before the council acts to attempt to resolve the problem.

According to the letter from the steel company, its first occasion to use the rail service occurred in July 1982. As soon as railroads attempted to switch cars into Southwest Steel Supply, it was determined that there were a number of problems with the installation.

The Norfolk & Southern Railroad refused to use the facilities, contending the curvatures were far too great and created the risk of a derailment, it was related.

The Chicago & Northwestern Railroad did agree to use the inside, or north, portion of the double track but advised that the curves were too great and that damage was being done to the rail as well as to the wheels of its equipment, aldermen were told.

After discovering bad switches, inverted banking, sinking track, sideways movement, loose spikes and bolts, the steel supply company arranged for a meeting on the site with Ed Juneau of Juneau & Associates, John Bowman of Kelly Railroad Contractors, Gene Steffens, Stephen Green of Southwest Steel, and Madison Comptroller Al Hudzik on Sept. 9, 1982. Problems were explained and all parties denied any responsibility or intention to take any action, the letter contended.

It went on to say the steel supply company then arranged for an independent consulting engineering firm to make a complete survey to determine the nature and extent of the problem.

The firm found that an area 25 feet west of the road and running 300 feet westerly contained curvatures as great as 23 degrees in two separate places. The original engineering plan correctly called for a maximum curvature of 15 degrees, the council was told.

Preston M. Green, president of Southwest Steel Supply Co., signed the letter, which included in regional place and the trackage is also mislocated and with incorrect curvature, we now ask you to take proper and adequate remedial action immediately.

"In addition, for this survey and study, we have spent the sum of $4,007 and expect to be reimbursed for this cost."

Mayor Mike Sasyk said he contacted Juneau Associates and presented the requests of the steel company. In response, Juneau Associates gave a detailed list of dates from the time the project began on March 3, 1977, until its completion May 21, 1981.

Construction was satisfactorily completed by Kelly Railroad Contractors, Inc., on May 21, 1981, at which time construction was approved by J. M. Beirne, chief engineer of the Illinois Terminal Railroad Company, the servicing railroad company," according to the letter submitted by Juneau Associates.

In other business, the aldermen approved paying $40,473 in bills for the previous month.

A request from attorneys representing heirs of the Buenger family for an agricultural right of way to property located in Chouteau Township, which also borders the Madison city limits, was read and referred to the city attorney.

Alderman Charles Rockett addressed the council and asked that more playground equipment for children be installed at a playground in the West Madison area.

Mayor Sasyk advised the aldermen to contact Sam Dymas, recreation director, with his request. After a study of the project, Dymas is to submit his recommendation to the council.

There will be a queen and four runners-up in each division. The queens will receive a five foot trophy, crown, banner, flowers and cash.

The four runners-up will receive four foot, 3/4 foot, 3' and 2 1/2' trophies and flowers.

The four queens will also be promoted throughout the year in parades and other public functions. The contest will be covered by several local Cable TV networks. The Western Division of the Civil Air Patrol will be serving as escorts for the 25 winners and will perform during the evening ceremonies.

70 evictions

notice produced no results, the director said.

Later, an employee of the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development visited the local units and complained he saw more dogs in the Kirkpatrick Homes area than he had found in any other projects he had inspected.

"That man controls future funding, and I'm seeking a lot of funding," Morgan commented.

The eviction notices were hand-delivered May 26 and 27, making the order effective in the last week of June, but Morgan does not think the issue will get to the point of actual evictions.

Since mailing the move-out orders, the housing authority staff has been receiving calls from residents promising to get rid of their animals.

Morgan is not sure how many calls he has gotten so far, but he seems confident the eviction threats will eventually solve the long-standing dog problem. A few cats also are involved.

He acknowledged that parting with pets for some housing authority residents would be "a very emotional issue," but added that the residents were aware of the rules when they moved into the new subsidized apartments.

The pet ban is enforced in all housing authority projects and also in some private apartment units, he said. The pet ban is enforced in all housing authority projects and also in some private apartment units, he said.

His job has been compounded by dog owners and others who apparently hide the animals as soon as the truck is seen. "The dogs are gone in a flash," he said. "Kids will grab them up and take off running with them."

Many of the pets are then allowed to roam the housing area again after the officers have left, he believes.

By Friday, the eviction notices had prompted owners to turn over 11 animals to the Humane Department. "Some of the people are shook up about it," DeRossett said, referring to those forced to give up their pets. Other owners are finding relatives willing to take in the animals.

"We're pretty much overrun with dogs," Morgan said, defending the housing authority's action. "With summer coming on, we're worried about the children."

GC jobless

"The economy in this region is still soft. January and February 1983 layoffs were greater than any recent recalls."

The number of employed in Madison County is down 198,325 in March to 108,700 in April. Statewide, workers have decreased from 4,922,000 to 4,878,000 even though jobless have dropped from 704,000 to 699,000.

The analyst sees a further reduction in unemployment ahead. "Modest recalls have been planned by a few manufacturing employers as product demands build. Construction and retail trade will be the prime areas of upward activity during the approaching summer months."

"Several summer employment programs for youth are gearing up for operation. Long-term employment opportunities are expected from the automobile and aircraft industries in Missouri."

"State government budgeting levels could force massive layoffs of professional and non-professional staff in area school districts."

In total, employment in the Illinois sector should improve. But the improvement may not bring unemployment below 10 percent as an average for 1983. The rate (now 12.3 percent) probably will hover at or near 11 percent for the summer."

and Curt 9, out of the home.

"It's a tragedy what happened. But I'm grateful for what she (Brenda) did. We're grateful that everybody's alive," Sanders said.

The residence was demolished in the fire and the family will be forced to "start all over again," he said.

Sarah Sanders said that she was taking clothing from the rummage sale back inside the residence when Brenda came running out to get her father.

"I handed my baby to Brenda and she managed to get all the kids out," she said.

"Brenda is the one who saved them. She's a wonderful young lady."

A fifth grade student at Johnson School, Brenda was humble Friday when she talked to the Press-Record.

To her, saving her cousin and brothers was a matter of instinct.

"I got them all out and then I got shook up," she said.

Her first thought was to summon her father. Realizing the fire was serious and knowing the house might be destroyed, she said, "My main thought was to get them out."

Sanders told fire fighters that Brenda conducted herself the way she was taught at school, through fire prevention instruction and manuals.

There were no injuries from the fire, which took firefighters almost two hours to control.

The cause has not been determined. The fire caused $25,000 of damage to the building and $20,000 of damage to the structure, a fire department spokesman said.

5-day July 4th fest; 10 pm curfew in parks

By DONNA KIMBRO
of the Press-Record

Carnival rides, concessions, softball and baseball tournaments, country and western music, polkas featuring area bands, a craft show and fireworks display will highlight the Fourth of July celebration at Wilson Park this year.

Plans and arrangements for the five-day event were announced at the Granite City Park District board meeting last week by Dave Nolan, director of parks and recreation.

Ray Sweeney, who will provide the carnival ride equipment, suggested a coupon book be offered for sale instead of the sale of single coupons for the rides, which cost from 45 to 75 cents.

Under the proposal, a single coupon would cost 25 cents and a book of 20 could be purchased for $4.50, but the coupons would not be honored on the matinee day, when the special rate will be three tickets for $1.

To be admitted on a 45-cent ride it would require two coupons. For 60- and 75-cent rides, three coupons would be needed.

The park commissioners voted against offering the coupon books, noting it would be a small saving to the public but that it would also be unfair to those who wanted to ride only once or three and would have excess tickets.

Carnival rides and concessions will be open from 8 to 11 p.m. on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the same time, with the hours on Monday set for 1 to 11 p.m.

Matinees are planned from 1 to 5 p.m. Friday, July 1, and Sunday, July 3. The fireworks display will be set off at 9 p.m. Monday, July 4.

The craft show is planned for the ice rink from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, July 3. Mrs. Anna Hordesky, 2817 Wayne Ave., was presented an azalea bush as a gift at the Park District booth in the Home Show, Nolan noted.

The board received a request from Associate Judge Thomas Hildebrand that the park district allow individuals to perform public service work to pay for fines on minor offenses, such as traffic violations.

Work would be done in parks to offset the fines. The proposal was tabled until detailed information is received by the board, primarily as to the park district's liability for the workers.

Permission was granted to Tri-City Knights of Columbus Council 1086 to use a ball diamond on four consecutive Sunday afternoons, and to the Cloverview Garden Club to use the Harold Brown Recreation Center on Aug. 9 for a citywide garden club seminar.

Park commissioners refused a request of Channel 24 to hold a rally in the park, due to lack of information on the format of the program. They also failed to agree on giving Nolan permission to attend the National Recreation and Parks Association convention to be held in Kansas City on Oct. 2-6. Nolan is to gather cost data for the trip and submit it to the board at its next meeting.

A discussion was held on vandalism damage to the newly erected gazebo in Wilson Park, and all commissioners agreed that the 10 p.m. curfew in all parks is to be strictly enforced. It was the opinion of the commissioners that anyone found in the park areas after 10 p.m. is to be arrested and prosecuted.

final decision has been made on the brothers' terms.

The indictments name each of the trio on four counts of aggravated kidnapping and two counts of armed robbery.

Calling themselves the "Army of God," the three abducted Dr. Zevallos, 54, and his wife, Leslie Jean, 46, on Aug. 12 and held them in an abandoned World War II ammunition bunker near Illinois, Ill., for eight days.

They were released near their home after Dr. Zevallos apparently convinced the men that abortions would be halted at the Hope Clinic in Granite City. The clinic remains in operation but Dr. Zevallos is less active there.

Former Granite Cityans, the Zevalloses resided near Sunset Hills Country Club at the time of the abduction.

After an investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the men were arrested in November and Anderson was convicted by a federal jury in January 1983 of attempting and conspiring to obstruct interstate commerce.

Matthew Moore pleaded guilty to the same charges and Wayne Moore pleaded guilty to conspiracy. The Moores were given psychiatric tests and await their sentencing.

Each of the trio could face up to 60 years if convicted on the state charges.

Under Illinois law, the abductors can be tried on aggravated charges stemming from two different aspects of each victim's kidnapping. The charges assert that the Zevalloses were held for ransom and that the abductors were armed with a gun.

Theft of $80 from the doctor and $250 from his wife are covered in the armed robbery charges.

Prior to the indictments, Weber told the Press-Record that he was waiting until the federal cases against the men were completed before deciding if he would seek state kidnapping charges. He also expressed concern for the Zevalloses, saying he did not want to put them through the ordeal of testifying again if they did not want to.

Mrs. Zevallos is not living in this area because of the ordeal. He commutes from here to see her, and the couple's home is for sale.

In April, Dr. Zevallos told reporters he felt the three should be tried on kidnapping charges.

Dr. Zevallos believes Matthew Moore is the most dangerous of the men and should be imprisoned as long as possible. Moore is said to have indicated to the couple that he would commit violent acts because of his Army of God beliefs.

Arson investigators from Florida alleged Anderson and Matthew Moore said during interviews at the St. Clair County jail that they set fires at two Florida clinics in 1982.

The pipe-bombing of a clinic in Virginia in June 1982 is being investigated for a possible connection with the Army of God.

While the Zevalloses were being held, the abductors sent a ransom letter to the FBI in which they claimed responsibility for the fires. Called the "Epistle," the letter quoted the Bible in condemning abortion and declared a "holy war" against abortion.

The "army" was formed after the men received revelations from God telling them to do the letter, said.

It further demanded that President Ronald Reagan declare an end to abortions in the United States and grant pardons to the three. He opposes abortions but did not respond to the letter.

Weber and Assistant State's Attorney Susan Jensen will prosecute the men. Weber said the case will not deal with the abortion issue.

Wayne Schoenberg, a lawyer from St. Charles, defended Anderson on the federal charges. He received no payment for his work. Although he is handling Anderson's federal appeal, Schoenberg said he will not defend him at the May 31 trial.

Anderson's appeal of his sentence was argued last week before the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago.

Moad reconsiders, takes chairmanship

New Sixth Ward Alderman Woodrow "Woody" Moad has announced he will accept the chairmanship of the Industrial Search Committee.

Seventh Ward Alderman Paul Bowler as chairman of the Industrial Search Committee.

"I think he was a very, very good choice—Bowler," Moad commented.

Moad added that, when he volunteered to be on the Negotiations Committee, "nobody else wanted the job."

Wood explained that after reconsidering the appointment by Mayor Schuler—he termed it a surprise—he has decided to "go ahead and take it and do a good job."

Last week, Moad read his letter of resignation as chairman shortly after the council voted to approve committee appointments. The mayor has the sole power to select committee chairmen, while the aldermen decide who will serve on the committees.

"I just didn't like it (chairmanship) pushed down my throat," Moad said, after confirming his decision Thursday.

"I just wish I had been consulted first."

According to Second Ward Alderman Sam Whittier, the city's most senior alderman who supervised the committee selection process, the mayor traditionally has not consulted aldermen prior to their chairmanship appointments.

Moad, as a first-year alderman, said the task of negotiating would be hard work, but that he has decided to "look forward to the challenge."

He would have, however, preferred to channel his energies toward projects in his own ward, which he believes has many problems of its own to solve.

During his aldermanic campaign, Moad had said he would work toward finding jobs for the community; at his suggestion, aldermen formed an Industrial Search Committee. He agreed to serve on the less popular negotiation panel in a compromise, in order to be on the new committee.

Later, Moad learned the mayor had appointed him as negotiation chairman and riot Hotel when she flew here to hold a press conference this spring.

U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Robert E. Brauer ruled in January that her husband, Thomas R. Brimberry, owed the $23 million. This decision was adopted in March by U.S. District Judge Edward Phillippe, who accepted Brauer's findings.

The Arizona home should be turned over to the trustee.

It is the only Brimberry asset that Moline thinks has no lien or mortgage. Moline has asked that the court let him abandon any interest in a Granite City mansion—if the Bank of Edwardsville, holder of the first mortgage, is willing to split $50-$50 any money exceeding $350,000 from future sale of the Parkway Drive home.

Mrs. Brimberry testified she had phony stock certificates printed in an attempt to hide—from outside auditors and the federal government—conspirators' thefts of large sums from Stix. The certificates also inflated stock accounts so that more money could be withdrawn from them.

She told of spending freely on clothing, jewelry and furnishings and said she often had $10,000 in her purse. She denied that $2.3 million might be "stashed" somewhere.

Her testimony was that she is living on money when she and her husband sold excavating equipment from a company he had operated. She said she plans to seek a job.

Moline is trying to find Stix assets to repay its creditors. He said the mansion here has a fair market value of $500,000 and would cost $721,833 to replace. He does not want to buy it for the Stix estate because of the expense and the ongoing costs. He asks that she be ordered to account for all money withdrawn from Stix since 1975, establish a trust on bank accounts and property held by her that were secured with stolen money, and turn over all Stix assets in her control. Moline claims the identity of the assets and their location are known only to the Brimberys.

In the other court case, Attorney

Scroggins argued before Circuit Judge William Johnson that Mrs. Brimberry cannot use the Fifth Amendment as a shield since she has testified about some of the assets.

Her lawyer, Lawrence Fleming, replied that she was granted only limited immunity, and that she testified about finances unwillingly under court order.

Johnson said decide whether she can decline to disclose assets on the basis that to do so would be self-incriminating.

Parley, a former Madison County Board member, successfully contended he was defamed by Brimberry's comment that the brokerage senior vice-president secretly gave big amounts to the 1981 mayor campaign.

Johnson ruled in February that Brimberry had defaulted by not appearing at pre-trial hearings. On Thursday, Mrs. Brimberry refused to list family assets.

Her husband was convicted May 25 of obstructing justice.

Disaster assistance is sought

Governor James R. Thompson asked President Reagan on Thursday to declare 17 Southern Illinois counties, including Madison County, as federal disaster areas after severe spring weather caused $41 million in damage and exhausted many local governmental resources for cleanup operations.

"I have determined that the present disaster situation caused by adverse weather, just six months after a previous disaster in the same area, is of such severity and magnitude that effective response is beyond the capabilities of the state and affected local governments," the governor said in his letter to the president.

"Supplemental federal assistance is necessary," he said, adding that funds cleaned up the heavy damage in the 17 counties are not available "to ensure public health and safety."

Thompson said the state will seek federal aid and public property federal aid for 13 counties in his request. They are Alexander, Calhoun, Greene, Jackson, Jersey, Macon, Macoupin, Madison, Monroe, Randolph, St. Clair, Union and White.

Aid being sought for four other counties, Edwards, Franklin, Pulaski and Wabash, will be for public property assistance only, he said.

The governor said record-low temperatures in mid-April and a hail storm in early May severely damaged Southern Illinois orchard crops, destroying 65 percent of the Southern Illinois peach crop. All the golden delicious apple crop was lost last year, and more than 80 percent of the red delicious apple was ruined.

"Agricultural damage for the region has reached $12.6 million this year alone," he said. "This after all of last year's peach crop was lost."

In addition to fruit crop losses, thousands of acres of winter wheat are still under water from flooding.

The state Emergency Services and Disaster Agency and the National Weather Service recorded 11 tornadoes on May 1 and 2, the governor said. A weather system that in Greene County killed two people, injured 15 others and damaged or destroyed 75 homes. One of the May 1 tornadoes struck Granite City.

Private, non-agricultural damage is estimated to be $16.3 million, while public damage totals $12.4 million, Thompson said.

Flood damage that followed more than seven inches of rainfall also was related.

"Many of these counties, communities and drainage districts are still recovering from last December's heavy rains and flooding. They now have been hit a second time and don't have the resources to repair roads and bridges without federal help."

Under the federal rules, individual assistance programs from a major disaster declaration would include low-interest loans to home and business owners for uninsured losses, grants of up to $5,000 to cover unmet needs, temporary housing for those without shelter, emergency farm loans and internal Revenue Service help in filing casualty loss amendments to income tax returns.

The public property assistance program would supply local governments with up to 75 percent in federal reimbursements to repair or replace public property damaged or destroyed by the tornadoes and flooding.

The governor said more counties may be included in his bid for U.S. aid as water in Southern Illinois recedes and more damage is uncovered.

He said he expects a response from Washington on the Illinois request in early June.

related to the basic looting conspiracy. There is no provision for "locking someone up and throwing away the key." Laws and procedures seek to guarantee fair play toward Brimberry and anyone else. But some of the defendants may face there is a link between the severity of the various sentences.

Skinner's lawyer, Robert Rice, said Friday, "When Miller got five years, we knew we were in for a long haul."

Skinner faced a maximum of 90 years but, with the 12-year term, would be eligible for parole in four years. Massa faced 145 years in a link between the severity of the various sentences.

Skinner said he did not "feel very good" about the sentence. "Obviously, I agree with it. Based on my attorney's opinion, we have a good case for appeal."

Massa blamed pre-trial news coverage—a legal conspiracy—for his conviction and sentence. Majority owner of Stix, he said his 20-year term is "extremely stiff," and that "Judge Nangle has that kind of reputation."

Chief U.S. District Judge John F. Nangle said the terms ordered for Skinner and Massa were "extremely severe if more direct evidence had been presented in court. Assistant U.S. Attorney Terry Adelman said circumstantial evidence was "sufficient and overwhelming."

The key issue was whether Massa and Skinner knew of alleged activity by Brimberry to remove $16,553,375 from 1975 to 1981.

One of Massa's attorneys, F. Lee Bailey of Boston, said no direct evidence involved Massa. The latter said, "I realize I was very lucky now, since some actions seemed more consistent with guilt, but I have no guilt. I did not know that Brimberry was doing anything illegal."

"What newspaper reporters don't understand is that jurors rule on impressions as much as the facts of a case. After a defense lawyer has argued for 16, 17 or 18 months, he comes in with a very defensive posture."

"The newspapers started working on me Nov. 4, 1981, and they kept it up right through the trial. I maintain a certain concept, an image of myself."

"When the news stories keep coming, it affects that image. If a defendant like me is hammered in the papers, he comes in very defensive. He may be extremely depressed."

Massa said it will be a relief not to be reading so many stories about himself in the future.

He said articles conveyed facts as the prosecution saw them, not as they were presented in court. He said there appeared to be a continual leak of information from prosecutors and the Internal Revenue Service to certain reporters, especially those in Illinois.

"A lot of what Brimberry was saying to the IRS and the prosecutors came in to the newspapers."

The relationship between the media and the prosecution is "symbiotic. It has a devastating effect on a person accused of a crime," he added.

Massa said he could not assert that the jurors in his case were swayed by newspapers. Those selected were "the quiet ones," he said, remarking that "you can't tell if they were influenced."

"But because of long, continued publicity, newspapers have an opportunity to influence jurors, and judges have to be aware of public sentiment."

"See ya," he said as he ended the post-sentencing conference in the almost empty courtroom.

Race driver fatally injured at Godfrey

Robert E. "Rob" Jones Jr., 27, of Maryland Heights, Mo., died at 11:30 a.m. Saturday, May 28, when his racing car spun out of control during competition Saturday, May 28, 1983, at the Godfrey Speedway in Godfrey, Ill.

Mr. Jones was widely known in the Metro-East racing circuit and held several records at the Tri-City Speedway in Granite City and at the Godfrey track.

Madison County Coroner Dallas M. Burke said Mr. Jones suffered a broken neck when his car overturned several times during the modified feature race at 10 p.m. Saturday. He was pronounced dead at 10:50 p.m. at Alton Memorial Hospital.

According to Don Ward, director of competition at the Godfrey track, no other cars were involved in the accident, however, a second race car struck Mr. Jones' vehicle just prior to it stopping.

Mr. Jones' car turned over and over and side over side and he was pinned beneath the roll bar. Ward held Madison County sheriff's investigators.

A crew chief told officers about 100 persons converged on the area in seconds and Mr. Jones was removed immediately from the scene due to the amount of fuel on the track and crowd conditions.

Another crew chief at the track said he believed the race car driven by Mr. Jones was brand new and on its first outing. The possibility of a malfunction in the vehicle is being investigated.

Ward advised sheriff's deputies.

Mr. Jones' father is Robert E. "Gene" Jones Sr. of Creve Coeur, Mo., also a race car driver.

Visitation is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. until 9 p.m. today at the Guardian Chapel, 11101 St. Charles Rock Road at Lindberg Boulevard, St. Louis. Private funeral services will be held Wednesday.

Nine cubs become Boy Scouts

Webelos graduation ceremonies highlighted the May meeting of Cub Scout Pack 13 of St. Elizabeth School, Paul Mills, Den 1 leader, presided.

Den 2, first year Cub Scouts, performed the opening flag ceremony.

Janet Neidhardt, committee chairman, announced the graduates Steven Evanoff, Bryan Neidhardt, Kent Poirier, Kris Krask, Joey Yurko, Roger Schrenk, and Joe Knobloch, Joe Thomas and Todd Ulz.

The graduation ceremony featured Joann Yurko removing the Webelos' neckerchiefs. They then walked over a candlelit bridge, accompanied by their parents and were welcomed on the other side of the bridge by Scoutmaster Marvin Widemer.

The nine received the Boy Scout oath and a demonstrated the handshake.

Joe Thomas, Den 4, received the forester, traveler and second year perfect attendance awards. Jimmy Knobloch received Scoutmaster's award.

Janet Kromray, Den 2 leader, presented awards to first- and second-year Cub Scouts. Jason Scrum and Stanley Gregory received bear badges. Steven Schaus six silver arrow points. Kurt Kessler two silver arrow points and Bryan Kromray one silver arrow point.

Cub Scouts receiving Scoutmaster awards or perfect attendance awards: Jason Scrum, Stanley Kromray, Matt Leif, Stanley Kromray, Kurt Kessler, Bryan Kromray, David Hyers, Billy Mowery, Terry Yobby and Bruce David.

The meeting closed with Den 2 retiring the colors.

Mrs. Marvin Korinek

Korinek-Broyles

Lucille M. Broyles, 3030 McCasland Ave., Madison, and Marvin L. Korinek, 113 Westmoreland, Collinsville, exchanged wedding vows on May 21 at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church.

The Rev. Frank Kordek officiated at the 11:15 a.m. ceremony. Organist Mrs. Clea Judd accompanied Mrs. Louise Kearn as she sang several nuptial selections.

Guests were received, after the service, at a reception held at the Creation Home in Madison, with Mrs. Nadine Meenan registering the guests.

The bride was escorted down the white carpeted aisle by her sons, Frank and Don Broyles, and the groom was accompanied to the altar by his daughter, Linda Korinek.

Assisting with the ceremony was Paul Sitzes who gave readings, Roland Lee who led the congregation in prayer and offertory gifts were presented by Mrs. Elvira Thurber and Mrs. Patricia Petrosky.

Honor attendant was Marie Zarlingo, a cousin of the bride, and bridesmaids included, Ann Piepert, Fay Cruse, Mary Adams, Kay Boudouris, Marie Miller and Kathy Scaturro as junior bridesmaid.

Melissa Broyles Sitzes, a granddaughter of the bride, was the flower girl.

Ray Johnson attended the groom as best man. Groomsmen were, Duane Adams, Nick Boudouris, Walter Miller, Henry Piepert, Wilbur Cruse, and Todd Broyles, a grandson of the bride, as junior groomsmen.

Ushers and candlelighters were Donna Broyles, a granddaughter of the bride, and Carol Broyles, the bride's daughter-in-law.

A rehearsal dinner was given at Sunset Hills Country Club in Edwardsville, for members of the wedding party.

After a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the newlywed couple is now residing in Collinsville.

Friendship degree bestowed on three

A potluck dinner was held at the Moose Lodge, hosted by the Women of the Moose, Chapter 247, to honor three members who received their degree at the annual state session at Mooseheart, Ill., earlier this month.

Honored at the state level and their presentation aides were, Sadie Bringer-Dorothy Coy, Sue Singler-Mildred Votoupal, Nancy Wood.

Sylvia Wood, JoAnn Dul-Benetta Boyd, Dorothy Rayes-Edna Miller, Betty Schmid-Clara Johnson, Mrs. Gusewelle was the presentation officer and Mrs. Marian Lipscomb served as guide.

Entertainment for the evening was presented by the Sweet Adelines of Collinsville. Games were played and prizes were awarded to Nancy Woods, Jean Teller, Mildred Votoupal and Mrs. Lipscomb was presented with an afghan.

Guests included Frank Wenzel, John Johnson, Charles Hester, Virgil Singler, Clarence Bringer, Terry Singler, George Lipscomb and Peter Schmidt.

During a previous meeting

DAR Chapter hears national report

Mrs. Janet Wilson, member of the Drusilla Andrews Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, served as delegate for the chapter at the Continental Congress in Washington, D.C., and gave a report of the programs at a meeting held at Burn's Cafeteria.

The chapter also conducted installation ceremonies for the 1983-84 officers during the dinner meeting. Those installed by Mrs. Margaret Belt were, Regent, Sandra Wilkinson, Vice-Regent, Barbara Williams, Secretary, Linda Koening, Treasurer, Florence Simpson, Registrar, Ella Ray Smith and Historian, Librarian, Mildred McCormick.

In her review of the national gathering, Mrs. Wilson told the members about the Gold Honor Roll for outstanding accomplishments the chapter received as well as her experiences of being called on the stage of Constitution Hall to receive recognition for the local chapters 100 percent participation in the President General's project.

Mrs. Wilson informed the chapter of Mrs. Walter Hughes King's election to the office of President General and reminded everyone that Sept. 3, 1983, will mark the 200th anniversary of the Treaty of Paris, the official end of the American Revolution.

Resolutions acted upon at the Continental Congress were discussed by Mrs. Wilson who added resolutions concerning the repeal of withholding tax on interest and dividends, irresponsible government spending, renewal of patriotism, the abuse of freedom by the media, especially television, and the international banking crisis were discussed.

Mrs. Barbara Williams, the retiring regent, opened the meeting and gave a review of the state conference and informed the members there are now 131 DAR Chapters in Illinois and that 98 of these were represented in Peoria during the state convention.

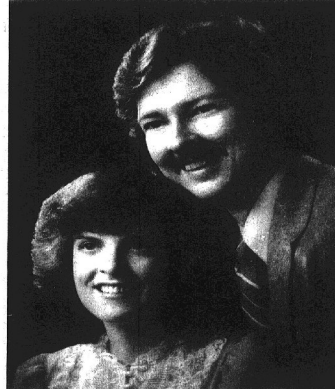

The President General's message was read by Mrs. Koening and Mrs. Simpson gave a report on the national defense.

Other events of interest include the Division VI meeting in Altamont on June 17, and the 60th anniversary of the chapter on Sept. 15, 1984.

Other members present were Miss Nelle Hart and Miss Mae McCormick.

WOMEN'S AGLOW MEETING THURSDAY The Granite City Chapter of Women's Aglow will meet on June 2 at the Community Christian Center, 2801 Marshall Ave., according to Betty Barthelme, president.

McGrath-Smallie

The wedding of Miss Donna Smallie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Smallie, 3241 Aubrey Ave., and Timothy McGrath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis McBride, Granite City, was solemnized on April 16 at the First United Presbyterian Church.

A program of wedding music was provided by Larry Smallie, a brother of the bride, and Vicki Simpson.

The Rev. Don Kratz officiated at the 4 o'clock afternoon ceremony, followed by a reception held at Creation Home in Madison.

Honor attendant was Daria Broyles, a sister of the bride, and bridesmaids were, Jane Pechte, Susie Kafka, Kathy Bailey, Mary Coulter and Carolyn Bellovich.

April Stauffer, a niece of the bride, served as the flower girl.

The groom chose Mike Fuchs as best man. Dave Rice, Mike Weber, Gary Capocchi, Wayne Phelps, John Whittenburg, Charles Meyer and Dan Pechte, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Both young people graduated from Granite City High School South. The bride is employed at National Food Store as a bakery clerk and the groom is assistant manager of the store.

Indy Winner

SPEEDING TO VICTORY. Tom Sneva heads toward the checkered flag after surpassing a block by Al Unser Jr. and a charge by Unser Sr. during Sunday's Indianapolis 500 race. The younger Unser, although several laps down, tried to hold Sneva at bay behind his father, to give Unser Sr. his fourth victory at Indy. The block failed when Sneva darted inside both Unseers and went on to win the race.

Madison's Lewis finishes third in A high jump

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

CHARLESTON — Madison's John Lewis had one thing on his mind at the Class A Boys State Final track meet Saturday: jumping 7-0 in the high jump finals.

Lewis thought about it so much that when he marked his takeoff spot on the runway to the high jump standards, he wrote "Lewis 7-0" and drew a bold arrow to mark the spot. If that wasn't enough, he drew a star and a line to the arrow a few feet away for another takeoff point.

Lewis fell short of his goal by six inches, but his jump of 6-6 was good for third place in the finals of the high jump. In addition, he leaped 44-0 in the triple jump for a fourth place finish. Lewis was satisfied with the fact he placed so high in both events, but he wasn't pleased. He knew he could have done better.

"I'm satisfied but not pleased," Lewis said. "I thought I did a good job up here, but I was hoping for a little bit better."

Al Collins, an assistant track coach at Madison, spoke to the coaching staff. "We're really proud of John. I know he's a little disappointed about today, but he's done an excellent job for us all season."

Everything was going perfectly for Lewis during Friday's preliminary jump. He made everything up to 6-6 without a miss. The competition stopped there after the finalists were determined.

Everyone started again at 6-2 Saturday, including Lewis and Tom Stitt of Lisle, who both had the best jumps of the preliminaries. Lewis missed his first attempt at 6-2 but made the second attempt at that height and the first attempt at 6-4 and 6-6. In fact, Lewis was the only jumper to make 6-6 on the first try Saturday.

When the bar was raised to 6-8, only three jumpers were left, Lewis, Stitt and Jose Section of Monmouth. All three jumpers missed their first jumps at 6-8. Stitt cleared the second jump, but Section and Lewis missed their second jumps.

Section made the third jump, leaving Lewis with the last attempt at that height. Lewis made his run towards the bar but he was not pleased with the takeoff.

He tried to curve away from the bar, but his spikes slipped on the slick all-weather approach and he fell through the plane of the bar. Because crossing the plane is considered a miss, Lewis was out of the competition.

Stitt went on to set a Class A record in the high jump with a 6-10 effort, and Section was second with 6-8.

"I was really hoping to go 7-0," Lewis said. "That has been my goal all year, and I still hope to see it this year sometime. When I made 6-9 in the sectionals, my coach told me I could have cleared 6-11. I came out well Friday, and if we could have gone on, I know I could have done it."

Although the IHSAA track season is over, Lewis was invited to compete in the Illinois Senior Meet of Champions June 4 at Champaign Centennial High School. Lewis was one of the top 12 senior high jumpers in either class this year to earn the invitation.

"He's going to get his chance at revenge there, and I think he can go 7-0," Collins said.

If Lewis finishes in the top three at Champaign, he will advance to Midwest competition in Indiana the following weekend.

Madison Coach Charles Steptoe said, "I know he's looking forward to beat the people he lost to today. He's going to get the chance to jump against the best again."

Later in the afternoon, Lewis jumped in the finals of the triple jump. His best preliminary jump was 44-0, and it was a good thing he made that in the preliminaries.

His first jump in the finals was well below 44-0, and he fouled on his second and third attempts. However, the fourth attempt behind Lewis couldn't exceed 44-0, and Lewis picked up his second medal of the meet.

Lewis was the only Trojan to advance to the finals in any event and scored all 11 team points. Madison tied with Immaculate Conception of Elmhurst for 23rd place.

The Skywalker was also entered in the long jump but did not make the finals in that event. Lewis' jump of 19-11 in the preliminaries was short of qualifying by more than a foot.

Madison's 400 meter relay team, Charles Fuller, Derrick Jackson, George Leonard and Shawn Brown, finished 10th in the preliminaries with

The 800 meter relay squad, Santos Howard, Jackson, Leonard and Brown, ran its preliminary in 1:32.3, more than a second away from qualifying. In the 800 low hurdles, Leonard ran his preliminary in 39.75 seconds, more than a half second away from qualifying for the finals.

Cairo, which defeated Madison in the Anna-Jonesboro Sectional meet, won the Class A team title with 45 points. St. Anne was second with 40 points, and Chicago Leo had 34 points for third.

Cairo's Kip Wright was a double winner. He took honors in both the long jump and triple jump and third place in the 100 high hurdles.

In the Class AA meet, East St. Louis Lincoln successfully defended its title, edging Bloom Trail (Chicago Heights) 46-46. Lincoln has now won the Class AA titles in both the boys and girls state meets for the second straight year.

It is also the third straight year the Tigers have won the Class AA title in the boys' meet. Of the nine Class AA meets that have been held, the two East St. Louis schools have won seven with East St. Louis winning the first four Class AA meets.

house in the SLARA Mighty Midgets Friday, May 27, while Ronnie Hoover took the top money in the NASCAR/Winston late model stock cars.

Knepper of Belleville, driving the Pizza Hut #55 VW powered midget, started back in the seventh spot and took only three laps to take over the lead. Gary Koster of Woodland, Calif., ran a nose to tail battle with Knepper and finished second. Duke DeToza of Springfield, Carl Monroe of Duplo and Mike Wente of Florissant, Mo., battled for third with DeToza coming out on top.

Ronnie Hoover of Fulton, Mo., beat out Mike Wallace for the late model stock feature. Driving his #5 Camaro, Wallace managed to get alongside but could not quite make the pass in his Firebird #6 and had to settle for second. Ed Dixon of Washington, Mo. was third.

The Sportsman Feature was won by Bert Griffin with Bobby Stanton second and Steve Quattermeuse third.

The mini-modified feature went to Gene Beach with Carl Ferguson second and Randy Blackwell third. The street stock feature went to Dave Nowak, Ed Kunz second and Jim Cox third.

Racing is every Friday night with gates opening at 6 p.m. and racing beginning at 8 p.m.

EDWARDSVILLE — On the wake of their fourth-place finish in the NCAA Division II World Series, the Cougars continue to pour in for the baseball Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Terry Cochran, who had earlier been selected as a third team All-Midwest Regional second basemen and to the All-Regional Tournament team, has been tabbed as the lone SIUE representative to the NCAA-II World Series All-Tournament squad.

Cochran, who completed the season with a .297 batting average, hit at a .400 clip in the World Series with a double, a run batted in, two walks and was hit by a pitch. He also sparked the Cougars' outstanding defensive play which saw SIUE turn three double-plays.

Cochran came to SIUE after a two-year career at Jefferson County Junior College. In his first year with the Cougars, the Lemay, Mo. native collected four double, two triples, a home run, 18 runs batted in, stole nine bases in 11 attempts and posted an impressive .971 fielding percentage.

In Collinsville Regional

Delkus hurlers no-hitter as Kahoks sting South

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER

of the Press-Record

COLLINSVILLE — Pete Delkus, Collinsville's ace hurler, made winning look easy for the Kahoks Monday afternoon as he threw as near a perfect game as possible to defeat Granite City South 13-0 in the championship game of the Collinsville Baseball Regional.

As champions, Collinsville will meet the winner of the Highland Regional this Saturday at the Granite City South Sectional, O'Fallon and Belleville East vie for the championship today at 4 p.m. in Highland.

Delkus, an 17-year-old right-hander, retired 14 consecutive batters before he yielded a walk to Warrior Tom Adamitis in the bottom of the fifth. Delkus, however, got the next batter, Tom Newton, to fly out to left-centerfield for the final out and preserve his no-hitter. It was Delkus' first ever as a Kahok hurler.

"I've been close a lot of times (to a no-hit performance)," a happy Delkus said as his teammates and Kahok supporters needed him.

"The no-hitter is a big thing, but the walks mean a lot more. I try to stay away from the walks," he said.

Delkus' now 6-3 on the season, said it became apparent to him that he had a no-hitter going after he retired the ninth consecutive Warrior batter to end the third inning.

"I've told the guys before not to tell me when I've got a no-hitter going. I don't want to lose my concentration thinking of the no-hitter."

Delkus is unquestionably one of the premier pitchers in the area, but some of the credit for the Kahoks' success Monday has to go to Collinsville's defense. Of the 16 batters he faced, Delkus struck out two. The remainder were sent down by Collinsville's errorless defense.

Unfortunately, the Warrior defense was not as successful. Throughout Monday's championship game the Warriors committed five mistakes, three of which were committed in the first inning.

It all began with the Kahoks' first batter, designated hitter Tom Lewis. Lewis grounded out to the fielder who appeared to be an out, but Warrior first baseman, John Linhart pulled his foot off the bag too soon. Lewis was out with an error.

Second batter, Rich Cain, bunted on safely after Warrior pitcher Tom Newton committed a throwing miscue. Cain reached on an error.

With runners on first and second, Collinsville's third batter, Marc Parker, sacrificed with a bunt to move Lewis and Cain to advance the runners.

With that Collinsville's Glenn Heflin, the Kahoks' clean-up batter, rapped a single to left field scoring both Lewis and Cain. The ball eluded Adamitis as Heflin advanced to second.

Two runs on one hit and three errors. The tempo had been set. That's the way things went for the Warriors in the championship game.

South retired the next two batters, Brett Holten and Delkus, to end the inning.

In reflecting on the game afterwards, Warrior Coach John Modica thought the first inning was the key to Collinsville's win.

"Our first inning put us right out of the ball game," Modica said. "They were supplemented with good hitting throughout while ours wasn't. Not today anyway."

"I think these kids did a heck of a job in this tournament. We came in here with nothing to lose and everything to gain. They have every reason to be proud," Modica said.

The Kahoks managed two runs in the second inning on three hits. Ray Seaman reached on an infield hit and Dale Kuehne singled to left field to advance Seaman to second.

Following Newton's strike out of Tom Grimm and put out of Lewis, Cain doubled in both Seaman and Kuehne to go ahead 4-0.

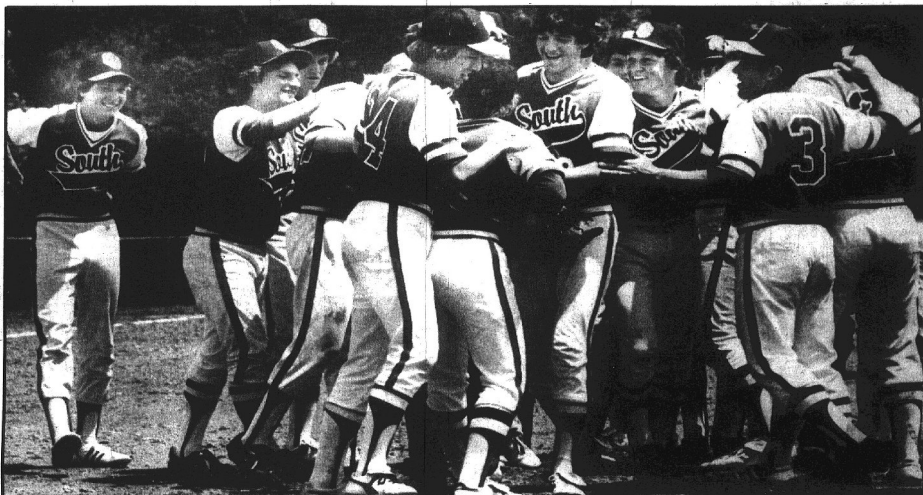

After Delkus retired his sixth consecutive batter of the game in the second, the Kahoks again went to work in the third to score three more runs.

Facing reliever, Dominic Griffin, Collinsville's Heflin smashed a home run over the left field fence 330 feet away for 4-0.

Holten reached on a throwing error by third baseman Darrel Elmore which sailed over Linhart's head. Then, following Delkus' fly out to center field, Seaman rapped another homer to just about the same place Heflin did eight pitches before to score both himself and Holten.

Now leading 7-0, the unsympathetic Kahoks barraged the Warriors in the fourth inning.

Now facing Mark Vanyo, who had been so successful against Granite City North on Saturday (See related story),

HAPPY WARRIORS. Members of Granite City South's baseball team rush out on the field to congratulate Mark Vanyo following his pitching defeat of Granite City North last Saturday in the Collinsville Baseball Regional. The Warriors' jubilation turned sour Monday as the Granite City nine lost to Collinsville in the championship game 13-0.

Collinsville managed five runs to take a 12-0 lead after four complete innings.

Following Cain's ground out to Elmore, Parker reached on a walk and then Heflin, who was three for four on the afternoon, tripled to score Parker.

Then Holten scored Heflin with a single up the middle.

Following Delkus' ground out, Seaman and Kuehne reached on a walk and an error respectively to load the bases. Then came the clincher.

Grimm, Collinsville's ninth batter, doubled to rightfield to score Collinsville's Holten, Seaman and Kuehne, the Kahoks' 10th, 11th and 12th runs.

Vanyo exited the inning when he got Lewis to ground out to third base.

Following the Warrior fourth, in which all three Warriors grounded out to the infield, Collinsville managed yet another run, its final in the game.

Facing Rod Sampson, South's fourth pitcher in the five-inning contest, Cain reached on an infield hit, Parker's fielder's choice advanced Cain to second and then a passed ball moved the Kahoks' second baseman to third.

Collinsville's final run crossed the plate as Cain scored from third after Heflin flied out to deep centerfield.

Sampson retired the Kahoks in the fifth as Holten was caught looking at a third strike.

In the Warrior half of the fifth, South managed its first baserunner of the contest. Adamitis reached as Delkus issued his one and only walk.

That was the highlight of the Warrior offensive.

after one inning, but the Flyers came back in their half of the second to tie the game at three all.

South went ahead 4-3 in the sixth as Scott Grote singled in Elmore, who reached on a fielder's choice.

East St. Louis tied it up at four apiece in the top of the seventh as Mark Adams singled in Derrick Moore.

Granite City won the game in its half of the seventh when Adamitis sacrificed in Linhart who reached on a walk, stole second and reached third on a fielder's choice.

Declines to change Urban's sentence

By ED GURNEY

Madison County Associate Judge John Day has refused a request that he change the three-year sentence he gave Collinsville attorney Ben Urban in February on four theft charges.

Day, in a hearing at East Alton last week, also refused to change his earlier order that Urban must make restitution of $146,788 within five years.

The judge at one point termed the presentation by Urban's attorney, Marvin Goldenhersch, "utterly a rebash" of a previously submitted memorandum that had sought to gain probation for his client.

Day later threatened to cancel Urban's plea bargaining agreement and set his case for trial, accusing Urban's attorney of "playing games with the court."

Urban, 41, pleaded guilty in December to four counts of theft over $150 involving his use of phony dismissal orders to obtain bond money refunds in truck overweight cases. Urban was sentenced by Day on Feb. 28.

Urban remains free on bond, pending a possible appeal.

Goldenhersch said after the hearing he would confer with his client before deciding whether to appeal. An appeal would have to be filed within a month.

Day, in announcing his decision at the end of the hearing said he made it clear in February why he felt the prior call for prison time was warranted. Urban used his professional reputation to commit crimes in a calculated manner over a period of years.

Day indicated he was unconvinced by nine newspaper articles submitted by Urban that were said to show that alternatives to prison time have not been uncommon for persons convicted of violent crimes in the metro-east area.

Assistant State's Attorney Robert Trone, who handled the prosecution, said the articles referred mainly to rules in St. Clair County.

Urban under interrogation by his attorney listed debts of $117,550, including $94,000 that he said he owes the Internal Revenue Service after it audited his tax returns from 1978-81.

Urban said his income is "zero." He said his only assets are a checking account containing $50, his interest in his Collinsville home, and possibly an interest in two family vehicles.

Later, under cross-examination by Trone, Urban testified he has conveyed to others some assets including a $20,000 to $30,000 interest in rental units at 2100 Vandalla St. and oil and gas leases (including $2,000 to $3,000 worth given to his wife and subsequently sold).

Urban added that he sold some stocks and bonds, including about 100 shares of Ford Motor Co. stock that he said he bought at $20 a share and sold for $17.

Urban said he has conveyed his interest in his house to a trustee, his son, Scott Urban, to sell. He said he had thought the house was worth $150,000; but that it has been on the market for two months.

Urban said he still owes about $50,000 on the home.

During the first part of the hearing, Urban repeated some of the information contained in a memo to the judge that had been intended to gain probation for Urban at the Feb. 28 sentencing.

Urban's wife has physical problems and is unemployed, that Urban's 13-year-old son depends on him for help with his homework, and that Urban has serious medical problems that could be worsened by incarceration.

Urban started to testify that he was "duped" and treated unfairly by the state's attorney's office regarding the plea bargaining agreement.

Day quickly noted that Urban had voluntarily entered into the agreement and that anything that happened prior to the agreement was no longer at issue.

When Urban went on to say he thought the state's attorney's office had violated terms of the agreement, Day interrupted again.

Day said he wouldn't let Goldenhersch and Urban bring up things that happened before the agreement unless Urban wanted to withdraw his plea.

Day said Goldenhersch was putting testimony on the record that might unfairly help Urban's case if it is appealed to the appellate court.

in Mount Vernon.

The judge said he might be inclined to cancel the plea bargaining agreement and set the case for trial. He said it was the first time an attorney had tried to "play games" in front of his court in a criminal case.

At the end of the hearing, after conferring with Goldenhersch in the judge's chambers about some points of law, Day made an apology of sorts to Goldenhersch. He said Goldenhersch told him he hadn't known what Urban was going to say.

Day, in response to a question from Urban, said that if Urban withdrew the plea bargaining agreement, he could get a much stiffer sentence: up to five years and $10,000 on each count.

The defendant's father, Pat Urban of rural Highland, requested and was given permission to testify.

"I would be glad to spend my declining years in supervising Ben as I did when he was a minor," Urban's father said. "There's nobody that knows Ben like myself and his mother."

He said Ben was one of five children. "It seems like four of them came out with a perfect record and one of them strayed from the path," he said, "and it was not our doing that he did this."

Urban's father said he would like a second chance so he could find where he went wrong.

UE rate plan cut

A $22 million increase in electric rates requested by Union Electric Company was scaled down to $9 million last week in a decision of the Illinois Commerce Commission, according to Attorney General Neil Hartigan, whose office intervened on behalf of consumers in the Madison-St. Clair counties area served by the Missouri-based utility.

Northern portions of the local community are affected. Union Electric asked for the $22 million increase last summer to help finance increased costs for constructing the Callaway I nuclear station in Missouri.

The Illinois attorney general's office opposed the requested increase at hearings before the commission. The ICC accepted arguments by Hartigan's lawyers that consumers should not have to pay for all of the costs incurred by Union Electric when it cancelled construction of its Callaway II nuclear station.

The commission also agreed with the attorney general's contention that cancellation costs which had not yet been experienced should not be recovered by the company.

Hartigan said his office considers the decision a precedent which will prevent ratepayers from being charged for a utility's mistakes in estimating growth and construction needs.

GRANITE CITY TRUST

Q: Would you explain the federal law pertaining to estate taxes which must be paid on the estate of a spouse?

A: You're probably referring to what has been called the "unlimited marital deduction" which went into effect in 1982. Federal law states when a spouse dies, there is no federal estate tax on any marital property or other values left to the surviving spouse. Prior to the 1982 revision, the marital deduction was limited in amount and, quite often, substantial federal estate taxes had to be paid on the estate when a spouse died. It should be understood, however, many states will require state taxes to be paid when a spouse inherits the property or money in an estate. However, if a spouse inherits $5 or $5 million from the estate of a deceased spouse, there is no federal estate tax due. Your banker, attorney or accountant can be of valuable assistance in estate related matters, from taxes to trusts.

Medical Center awards given at Old Post Office party

Community service

Roulands tour Ireland, Alps, Spain, Morocco

Travelers Abroad met in late May with about 30 members present for the last meeting of the 1982-83 season. Dr. Alice Purdes, president, led a moment of silence for a deceased member, Mrs. Mary Miller.

Program chairman Ernest Roulund took the group via slides from Ireland to Tangier.

Mr. and Mrs. Roulund made the trip on an individualized basis, not as part of a group tour. Their trip started in Dublin and several slides showed the downtown area as seen from the O'Connell Bridge over the river Liffey.

As they left, there and headed west, they stopped at the Kevin Monastery, built in the 500s by a Franciscan teaching order.

It was noted that sheep raising is a principal industry and that the sheep are branded with colored dyes through their wool.

Roulund observed that Ireland must have more cattle ruins than any other country. Everytime one blinked, there was another set of ruins, it seemed.

Nearing Limerick, they visited Bunratty Castle, famous for its medieval banquets, sans eating utensils. The banquets also feature musical entertainment. This castle is 600 to 600 years old and a village around the castle has been restored to its original condition.

Also near Limerick is the Quinn Abbey, which was destroyed by Cromwell. Farther south is Killarney and the Roulunds enjoyed a trip around the lake by a jaunting cart.

Blarney Castle, with the kissable Blarney stone located on the third floor of the castle, was near Cork. When one kisses the stone, he must hang out glasses, teeth, upper-pocket articles, etc., or they may disappear into space as one leans back to reach the stone, the club was told.

Going by train back to Dublin, the tourists flew to London and then on to Geneva, Switzerland's most international city. It is the European seat of the United Nations and headquarters for more than 200 international organizations.

The water spout in the harbor was interesting to them and the Roulunds enjoyed an excursion boat across Lake Geneva.

Monsieur, noted for its mild winters, attracts famous, wealthy Americans who go there to retire.

Chillon Castle, located on the edge of Lake Geneva, is half-way between Rome and Paris. In olden days, an army of 1,000 men was located there so an army going between the two cities had to get past Chillon Castle first.

A poem entitled "The Prisoner of Chillon" refers to this area.

Zermatt, near the Matterhorn, is in the heart of the Alps. No automobiles are allowed within 10 kilometers of the town. Everyone moves by horse-drawn carts or, in the winter, by sleds.

From Switzerland, the Roulunds traveled to Milan and Naples, Italy. Naples with Mt. Vesuvius has a Sulphur Grotto.

Roulund said that lava from Vesuvius is under all the ground at Naples.

South of Naples is Pompeii, destroyed in 79 A.D. by the eruption of Vesuvius. The town was buried under 60 feet of ashes.

One of the wildest rides the Roulunds ever experienced occurred on the drive to Amalfi. They said there were 3,000 curves on this road that clung to the hillside.

Tale of Capri, famous for its Blue Grotto, was visited.

From Naples, the tourists flew to Rome and then on to Madrid. A trip to Granada took 18 hours due to an earthquake which blocked roads, causing many detours.

This city was the scene of the last battle between the Catholics and the Moors, who were defeated.

Going on to Malaga near the Rock of Gibraltar, the Roulunds flew over to Tangier, Morocco, known as the "crossroads of the world."

The Gates of Hercules are where the Mediterranean and the Atlantic oceans meet, near the Rock.

The Roulunds visited the Casbah, which in Arabic means the old city. From Tangier the travelers returned to America.

No meetings are scheduled until Sept. 26, at which time a special program of art from Paris, accompanied by pipe organ music, will be featured at St. Peter's United Church of Christ.

Don't be frivolous or you may pay a $500 penalty

Internal Revenue Service Springfield District Director Ira S. Loeb has announced that the new $500 frivolous income tax return penalty, provided by the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982, is currently being assessed.

Loeb said this penalty is to be used where there is clear intent on the part of an individual to hinder administration of the tax law.

The frivolous return penalty can be imposed against people who take a frivolous position or interfere with the administration of federal income tax laws by filing a return that does not include enough information to determine the correct tax or includes information that shows an amount of tax that is substantially incorrect. The frivolous return penalty may be assessed even if the individual has no tax liability, and it is in addition to other penalties which may be due.

In order to request abatement of the frivolous return penalty, the taxpayer must pay 15 percent of the amount within 10 days of the notice and file a claim for refund.

Do we 'dig' Indian relics? Yes

Have you ever wanted to join an archaeological dig but did not know where to go, or thought you did not have the necessary skills or experience? The Cahokia Mounds Museum Society offers such an opportunity for the general public to participate in an excavation, and it will take place at Cahokia Mounds, the largest archaeological site in the United States.

Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site is located in Madison County, near Collinsville. It is easily accessible from Interstates 55, 70 and 64.

The focus of the 1983 field school excavations will be to follow the location of four defensive walls, or stockades, that were built in succession around the center of this prehistoric Indian city 700 to 800 years ago.

Since the walls were built through former residential areas, numerous houses, storage areas and reuse pits are also entered, revealing much information about the early populations.

Participants in two-week field school sessions will learn basic archaeological techniques such as surveying, excavation and mapping as well as working in the lab processing artifacts that have been recovered.

No prior experience is required, just an avid desire to learn archaeological techniques under professional supervision. The minimum age is 16, although 12-to-15-year-olds may accompany a participating adult.

Anyone under 18 needs written permission from a parent or guardian. There is no upper age limit, and many retirees have participated in the past.

A tuition of $75 is required, with special family or group rates available.

No room or board is provided; these are the responsibilities of the participants, but a free primitive camping area is available for those who wish to camp. Many motels are located nearby.

The field school sessions are two weeks long and are scheduled to begin June 5, June 20, July 5, July 18, Aug. 2 and Aug. 15.

DAV Service Van here on June 10

Local veterans and their dependents are invited to visit the DAV Service Van at the DAV Home, 1417 Nineteenth St., on June 10 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., according to Andrew Gilchoff, Commander of Chapter 53.

The DAV Service Van is manned by highly trained service officers offering assistance on all VA veteran benefits, such as medical and health care, disability compensation, pensions, employment rights, education, burial, vocational rehabilitation, social security, insurance, VA loan guarantees and other programs administered by the Veterans Administration and the Social Security Administration.

There has been 445 changes in veteran benefits in the last six years, created by 23 separate laws according to Bob Volaski, the director of the DAV National Service Office in Chicago. Each of these changes could affect a veteran and family, as well as nine benefit reductions in the 1982 and 1983 federal budget bills, he said.

All veterans and their families are invited to visit the service van and discuss problems with one of the NSO's. The service is offered free, but keep in mind bringing your VA claim number and your social security number, when you visit the DAV Field Service Unit, the commander added.

Awards banquet for Future Secretaries

The Madison Chapter of Future Secretaries Association closed its season of meetings with an awards banquet to honor members who accumulated the largest number of points given for participation in chapter events.

Lee Ashby, a faculty sponsor, speaking for the high school administration and FSA sponsor, commended the group for such a large number of members that consistently made the honor roll during the year and for their participation in the recent high school blood drive.

He introduced two members of FSA, Joann Bizio, valedictorian and

After his talk, Ashby asked Mrs. Twila Edmonds of the Tri-Cities Chapter of Professional Secretaries, sponsors of the chapter, and Mrs. Beverly Imming, faculty sponsor, to present awards to the members.

Miss Lenora Williams was the recipient of the senior award having accumulated the largest number of points for the year and Miss Sharri Dew received the junior award in the same category.

After the awards and speeches, the FSA members, sponsors and guests attended the dinner.

Prather Chorus final concert

The final concert of the Mixed Chorus and Spring Choir of Prather Junior High School was performed Thursday night at the school.

Although the two groups will no longer sing together, they will be featured on Cable TV, Channel 1 (22) on Wednesday, June 1, Thursday, Friday and Sunday at 9:30 a.m.

The Swing Choir was organized in April of this year and due to the closing of the school, the seventh and eighth graders will now go to different schools.

Graduates from Notre Dame

Gregory L. Barth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Barth, 58 Riviera Drive, graduated Summa Cum Laude from the University of Notre Dame, in Notre Dame, Indiana, on May 15.

Gregory is a member of Phi Beta Kappa Honor Society, Alpha Epsilon Delta Honor Society, and had the second highest academic rank in his graduating class.

Gregory, a graduate of St. Louis University High School, has received a four-year full tuition scholarship from the Washington University School of Medicine.

FACES TWO CHARGES FOLLOWING DISPUTE

A Venice man was charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest following an argument about money, Venice police said.

Glen Crook, 23, 1227 Douglas Ave., was arrested Friday at 11:50 a.m. when he allegedly refused to leave the scene of the disturbance.

Police were called to 1023 Calhoun Ave., where Patricia Pritchard said that Crook had given her money the day before and then asked for some of it back. When she told him she would not give him any money, he allegedly broke a nightstand and refused to leave.

When told to leave, Crook allegedly pushed a police officer. Although he eventually left, Crook allegedly returned and kicked in a door after police were gone. They returned and arrested him at 1023 Calhoun Ave.

APARTMENT DAMAGE

Food items and toys were taken from an apartment at 2200 Adams St. It was reported at 10 p.m. Friday by Dorothy Batey. Windows were broken by the intruder.

Surprise shower for Carol Hutson

Miss Carol Hutson was honored at a bridal shower given by Beth Keller, maid of honor and a sister of the bride.

The shower was carried out in a wedding bell theme, with each guest receiving bell party favors. The centerpiece was a two-tiered cake, decorated in blue and rose.

Those present were, Mrs. Richard Hutson, mother of the bride, Mrs. Betty Hutson, mother of the groom, Patti Hutson, Barb Loftus, Karen Patterson, Nelda Lancaster, Theresa Hicks, Dawn Westbrook, Marge Farmer, Margie Blackman, Karen Sisson, Roberta Judd, Tammy Evans, Holly and Deann Lee, and Gay Stidham.

The wedding will be performed by Rev. Charles R. Hutson, grandfather of the bride, at Trinity United Methodist Church.

Nameoki Methodist recital

Several performed in a piano recital held at Nameoki United Methodist Church, Pontoon Road and Murdock Avenue.

The performers were students of Ruth Gibbs.

Those performing were Brandi Manion, Melanie Moorman, Tonya Focht, Alison Arnold, Michael Vaughn, Grant Badger, Melissa Simpson, Amy Isenburgh, Beth Hutchinson, Christie Hayden, Kara Andrews and Stephanie Yates.

Others playing were

Mitchell PTA ends year

The Elizabeth Wittkamp Parent Teacher Association concluded its 1982-83 meeting season at the May gathering. The 1983-84 PTA officers were installed at the meeting.

New officers are: Nancy Kern, president; Danny Doss, first vice president; Margot Clements, second vice president; Georgia Simpson, recording secretary, and Al Fuller, treasurer.

Entertainment was provided by Debbie Milton, music teacher. She presented singers from the first, second, third and sixth grades.

Silver trays in appreciation of service were given Miss Milton and teachers Jackie Sline and Elaine Briggs. Both will be leaving the school at the end of the year.

Dorothy Larkin was presented with a personalized pen in response to her retirement.

CATHERINE COLLIGAN WINS FLAG CONTEST

Catherine Colligan, 2416 Winters Drive, Anchorage, Alaska, is the winner of the flag-waving contest conducted during Memorial Day services at the Jefferson memorial in Wilson Park.

She will receive a $100 savings bond.

Staff Sgt. Ronald W. Myracle, station commander of the local Army recruiting office, spoke at the ceremonies.

ROYAL PAIR. Andrea Stovall and Chris Harris were crowned king and queen of the Sunday School contest held by the Nursery Department of the First Church of the Nazarene, Highway 111. Miss Stovall is the daughter of Edward and Leslie Stovall, Granite City, and Harris is the son of Hyland Harris and grandson of Gay and Ralph Harris, all of Glen Carbon. The pastor is the Rev. William Roddy.

Audubon Society selects logo

The Southwest Chapter of the Illinois Audubon Society has selected the European tree sparrow as its logo, which will be used to head the group's newsletter.

The logo was designed by Lucas Wrischnick.

The European sparrow is a bird unique in this country to the Horseshoe Lake and Cahokia Mounds State Park area. People come from throughout the nation to count the sparrow among their bird finds.

The Southwest Chapter met in May at Union Savings, Collinsville, with 14 members and three guests; the guests, Victor Jansen, Loretta Cook and Judy Stille, were enrolled as members.

The group saw two films, "The Life of James Audubon" and "The Story of John Muir," founder of the Sierra Club.

Dr. John McCall gave an account of the annual Audubon Society meeting held in Springfield.

Ruth Allen reported on the Bluebird Trail at Horseshoe Lake, and plans were made for a June 4 bird walk at the lake. The group also plans to participate in an egret census July 9.

Refreshments were served

Tired of roller coaster
utility bills?

Switch to level billing.

Illinois Power makes it easy.

Energy use in your home will always vary, particularly with extremes in the weather. Winter heating and summer air conditioning reflect increased energy usage. That can add up to peak utility bills.

The price you pay for electricity will also vary. This is particularly true in the summer, when peak loads put extra demands on our electric generating system.

By choosing Illinois Power's optional level billing program you can equalize your monthly utility bills to about the same amount every month throughout the year.

Level billing eliminates those seasonal roller coaster ups and downs which can play havoc with your family budget.

And we've made it easy for you. Just talk to your Customer Service Representative at Illinois Power for complete information.

Success sweet for John Hillerman

By NANCY ANDERSON

HOLLYWOOD — It would be an exaggeration to say that John Hillerman doesn't want to make a movie while "Magnum P.I." is on hiatus prior to beginning its next season. But if he doesn't do one, he won't be madly depressed, because he'd like to spend a free month in London investing a week of time reading tombstones.

While some television series will rush into new-season production the minute the present season winds up to get film into inventory before an actor's strike can develop in July, "Magnum" can't take this precaution, because Tom Selleck is committed to make a movie this late-spring and early-summer.

Most actors predict that SAG won't strike at contract time, but, should negotiations prove stormy, a work stoppage could ensue. Hillerman, though, isn't worrying about that right now.

Thanks to the success of "Magnum P.I." and to the popularity of Higgins, the character he plays, he can afford long vacations and a high living. And you can take the "high" literally.

For Hillerman has recently moved into newly purchased 4,000-square-foot digs in Hawaii from which he crows he enjoys a "view of the world."

"I now consider myself a Hawaiian," he says.

Before he went to the islands to work, he was warned that he might get rock fever; a mad desire to escape from a relatively small area bound by the Pacific Ocean.

"But I love it here," he says. "Whenever I'm in Los Angeles and find myself stuck for an hour on a freeway trying to get to a relatively insignificant appointment, I remember the advantages of living in Hawaii."

He's already booked onto the "Love Boat" for one episode during the "Magnum" break, and if something else very tempting came along, he'd do more work.

Yet he'd thoroughly enjoy spending a month in London where he'd rent a flat from which to explore city and countryside.

"Last year I was in London for two days," he says, "and wandered into Westminster Abbey. I realized suddenly that I could spend a week in there reading tombstones."

Memorial inscriptions within the Abbey are dramatic to those with imagination.

Brief summaries of humanity's encounters with fate, they conjure dreams of junior officers dead in the Khyber Pass during the days of the Raj, of pig-tailed seamen blown asunder while serving under Nelson, of brave women wasting of fever in remote corners of the Empire.

Hillerman admits that only recently has he been able to afford a month of leisure in London and a magnificent condominium in Hawaii, because, prior to "Magnum" he was, in his words, "a very poor actor."

During the past season, he particularly enjoyed playing Higgins with Higgins' illegitimate half-brother, an Irish priest, because the dual roles allowed him to work on a split screen, something he'd never done before.

A year earlier he'd played Higgins' half brother from Texas, but in that episode his two characters were never on the screen at the same time.

The Honolulu Chamber of Commerce proved through a survey that "Hawaii Five-O" drew tourists to the islands in droves. Thousands of visitors admitted that they'd chosen their vacation spot with the hope of meeting or at least seeing Jack Lord.

And Hillerman is sure "Magnum" is having the same effect.

"People will stop me on the street and say, 'We came here to see 'Magnum,'" he says. "When we work on Waikiki Beach, crowd control becomes a real problem."

But he's not complaining about that.

For so long as mobs press to see the "Magnum" cast, Hillerman can readily afford time galore in Westminster Abbey, plus luxurious accommodations elsewhere.

Tony-Award winner Gwen Verdon played choreographer to the honest-to-goodness Rockettes in "Legs," a TV movie that aired May 2, but she says the precision hoofers weren't in the least awed by her.

"Dancers are like athletes," Verdon says. "They may admire each other, but they are never in awe."

In "Legs," Verdon, who won the Tony for "Damn Yankees," not only acted but also danced, something she still does ably, since she tries to practice every day.

"Sometimes, if I'm very busy, I may skip a day or two," she admits, "but I work out regularly."

Brought up in Culver City, home of MGM, with a father who worked at that studio, Verdon never collected autographs or paid much attention to stars other than those of "Tarzan" movies.

They impressed her.

She's made several pictures herself, beginning in 1951, but the stage has been the primary outlet for her artistry.

Expanding her stage experience, Verdon goes to Dallas this spring to star in "Arsenic and Old Lace," with hopes of doing more regional theater.

"The only way people can see theater now is through regional theater," she says. "It costs too much to go to Broadway shows."

The saga of Kenny Rogers

By ROBIN WELLES

HOLLYWOOD — Must be nice, you say, to have the talent to produce seven platinum (million-selling) albums in a row.

Well, that's a poor way to put it. Kenny Rogers has the talent to do just that, all right, but then he's had that talent for years and years and it wasn't until he was nearly 40 that he really made it big.

And when you're a singer at that age, you really hear the footsteps of other, younger singers coming on. Kenny has made millions, or maybe billions, now — but in 1956 he made a grand total of $13 for a singing job at an Air Force base in San Antonio, Texas.

He drifted through the '60s as a pop singer until 1966 when he latched onto the New Christy Minstrels. He was relatively prosperous with that group, but the Minstrels later disbanded and Kenny found himself on his own.

What to do, at 38? For two decades he had worked in jazz (playing bass for the Bobby Doyle jazz trio at one point for more than six years), folk and rock.

Well, Kenny's daddy used to play fiddle — so maybe the son should give Country-Western music a whirl.

He looked up country producer Larry Butler and the two of them put together Kenny's first solo country album, "Love Lifted Me." In the movies the LP would have made Kenny a smash success. But it didn't.

The next album was "Kenny Rogers." And on this LP was a tricky little song called "Lucille" about a woman who shucked her farmer husband and four hungry children.

Instant success. But not what you could call OVERNIGHT success. For Kenny Rogers, it was a long, hard grind. He earned that $14.5 million Beverly Hills home he lives in with his wife Marianne and year-old son Christopher.

Rogers will probably make enough on his latest Liberty-Capitol album, titled "We've Got Tonight," to add a few wings to the old mansion. Like the man, it's a winner.

Piper happy with 'Thorn Bird' role

By ALAN L. GANSBERG

HOLLYWOOD — PIPER LAURIE is one actress who has established a reputation for choosing her roles carefully, but she hardly hesitated when offered the plum part of Anne Mueller in ABC's mini-series "The Thorn Birds."

She hadn't read the book, but instinctively she knew, "A mini-series makes you feel in awe. I like the form, and in this case luckily the basic material as well," she said.

"I had done 'Tim' in Australia and the people there thought 'Thorn Birds' would be done in Australia as well. All of that interested me."

In the end, her sequences were shot over three weeks in Hawaii, with scenes mostly alongside RACHEL WARD and JEAN SIMMONS, the latter a reunion of sorts since they played sisters in "In Which We Sail."

"From the moment I heard of the book I had a feeling I would be in it," Piper indicated. "I haven't seen a foot of the final product yet, but I'm happy with what I did."

Piper's screen history goes back to the contract days, when as a teen-ager she turned out numerous films in parts which she now describes as "comic sexpots." In fact, it amuses her that she now is considered a serious actress, as it was a long, hard struggle to reach that point.

With Hollywood at her feet, Piper turned her back on filmtown, went to New York and broke into the early days of television after several years of struggle. From the time she did "Days of Wine and Roses" with Cliff Robertson for the small screen, it has turned around. In the last two decades she has earned two Academy Award nominations, one for "The Hustler" and one for "Carrie."

"Sometimes I would like to work more," she said. "But I've always needed time for myself. I'd go crazy if I had to do three or four movies a year. I always need time off."

The time off is well used. Piper is divorced and raising a 12-year-old girl, and she is an artist, specializing in stone carving, with each project a massive undertaking.

"I've always been very strong," she remarked. "I went through a lot of things when I was a kid in this business. I came out strong. I was lucky."

ROBERT DE NIRO could be working with longtime collaborator-director MARTIN SCORSESE soon. He's the choice to play Jesus in "The Last Temptation of Christ," which Scorsese will direct. If De NiRO declines, an unknown will be cast. The movie will be filmed in Israel.

CRYSTAL GAYLE and her husband BILL GATZMOS are expecting their first baby in September, but Crystal is not expected to take too much time off. Singing is good for babies, even in the womb.

Gearing for a return to series is WILLIAM CONRAD, who will star in "Here and Now," along with a troupe of lifelike puppets ... yes, puppets. A far cry from his "Cannon" days. JOHNNY CARSON's production company is supplying the pilot to NBC.

KATE JACKSON could also be returning to series. She has agreed to star in a CBS pilot entitled "The Scarecrow and Mrs. King," in which she'll play a homemaker who doubles as a spy.
